

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An interactive real time visual face-to-face communication system provided with keyboard entry and associated display for each terminal. The terminals are configured to allow the display of pre-determined messages on a receiving terminal without corresponding display on the sending terminal, as well as allow for deletion of a conversation from either respective terminal.